ONLINE

Monday 5th July –
Friday 16th July 2021

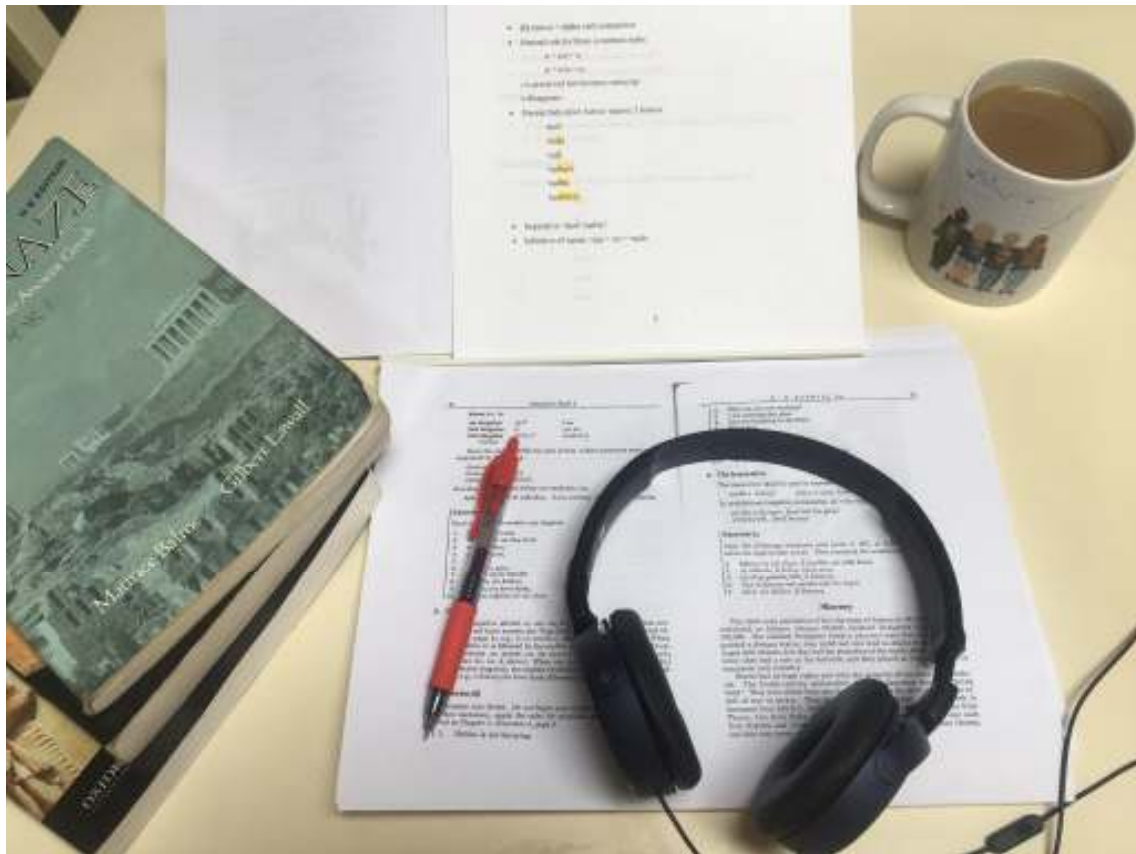

BELFAST SUMMER SCHOOL IN LATIN & CLASSICAL GREEK

The sixth Belfast Summer School will take place in July 2021. This will be a virtual summer school conducted via Zoom.

Courses will be available in Latin and Classical Greek at beginners, lower intermediate, upper intermediate, and advanced levels.

The summer school will begin on Monday 5th July. Students may enrol for one week or two, finishing on either Friday 9th July or Friday 16th July.

COURSES OFFERED IN 2021

Latin for beginners: In this course you will start at the absolute beginning, learning about how Latin forms its basic tenses (e.g. Present, Future, Imperfect) and how its nouns and adjectives look when used in different parts of a sentence. By the end of the course you will be familiar with case usage, tenses, and be able to translate a good range of basic sentences, including basic sentences in both adapted and original Latin.

Lower Intermediate Latin: This course is for students who already have the basics of Latin. You will be expected to understand what the different cases are, and at least one or two of the noun declensions. You will also be expected to understand at least the Present Tense Active forms of verbs. From there, we will introduce the other noun declensions, as well as the other Active tenses, finally touching on the Passive voice and participles. We will tackle practice sentences and passages throughout the course, and finally attempt unseen passages of original, unadapted Latin. These will be taken from a range of sources, but we will attempt both prose and poetry from the ancient world.

Upper Intermediate Latin: This course is for students who are familiar with all of the declensions and both the Active and Passive voices of all the verb tenses, as well as participles. We will cover more advanced grammar, for example, the Subjunctive mood and the different types of clauses (temporal, conditional, purpose, result), along with indirect statements and questions, before tackling a more advanced passage of Latin. The aim here is to consolidate your existing knowledge, building on material you covered in previous summer schools, or indeed previous Latin experience from school, university, or your own personal learning. This course will set you up well for tackling unadapted Latin texts on your own, with the help of a dictionary and grammar book.

Advanced Latin: In this course you will deal with completely unadapted and original Latin texts. A relatively advanced knowledge of Latin vocabulary and grammar will be required for this class. Students will undertake independent translation under the guidance of their instructor, who will offer explanation of the more advanced grammatical concepts you will encounter. In 2021, the advanced Latin group will read sections from Tacitus Annals 4 and Virgil Aeneid 12.

Applicants are asked to include on their application form details of courses already completed and textbooks used. The course will be tailored to the needs of students and resources used will include Wheelock's Latin, and Latin to GCSE.

Students will be provided with worksheets and handouts. It is not necessary to purchase a textbook but you may wish to buy a Latin dictionary if you do not already own one.

On completion of the course students will receive a certificate of attendance.

CLASSICAL GREEK

Classical Greek for beginners: no previous knowledge of Greek is necessary for this course. Students are asked to learn the Greek alphabet before commencing the course, and instructions and a worksheet will be provided. We will learn about how verbs are formed, and about noun declensions. By the end of the course you will be able to translate basic sentences.

Lower Intermediate Classical Greek: This class is for those who already know some ancient Greek. You are expected to understand the present tense active forms, first and second declension nouns and prepositions. We will continue with future, imperfect and aorist tenses, and third declension nouns. Students will translate from Greek to English, and English to Greek, and by the end of the course, we will read some adapted ancient Greek.

Upper Intermediate Classical Greek: This class is for students who are familiar with Imperfect, Future and Aorist tenses, Active and Middle voices. We will cover more advanced grammar such as the Subjunctive and Optative mood and their uses; the Passive voice, Perfect tense, and subordinate clauses such as indirect statements and purpose clauses. We will read adapted and original texts during the course. By the end of this course, students should be able to attempt translation of unadapted texts with the aid of a grammar and dictionary.

Advanced Classical Greek:

In this course, students will translate un-adapted Greek texts under the guidance of their instructor, who will provide explanation of grammar and vocabulary as necessary. A reasonable grasp of the material covered in Lower Intermediate Classical Greek and Upper Intermediate Classical Greek (above) will be necessary for students attending this class. In 2021, the advanced Greek group will read excerpts from Homer: Iliad, 18 and Odyssey, 1; Aristophanes: Peace and Clouds; Sophocles, Ajax; Euripides, Medea; Herodotus, Histories, 7; Plato, Phaedo; Xenophon, Anabasis, 4, and Lysias, Eratosthenes.

Applicants are asked to include on their application form details of courses already completed and textbooks used. The course will be tailored to the needs of students and resources used will include Athenaze, Greek to GCSE and Reading Greek.

Students will be provided with worksheets and handouts. It is not necessary to purchase a textbook but you may wish to buy or download a Greek lexicon if you do not already own one.

On completion of the course students will receive a certificate of attendance.
